Abstract: Peter Carey speaks about his novel "Jack Maggs" and the inspiration from Charles Dickens's "Great Expectations", and his ability to write novels set in the nineteenth century. He also speaks about being classified as a post-colonial writer as well as criticism on his various works of writing.