Travel to sacred sites constitutes an integral part of New Age spiritual culture. This chapter examines the phenomenon of New Age pilgrimage at a prominent centre of New Age activities, the town of Sedona in north-central Arizona. It begins by examining the geographical contours of New Age... culture. Located part-way between Phoenix and the Grand Canyon, the small town of Sedona and its surrounding million tourists a year. The chapter also examines Richard Leviton’s book The Galaxy on Earth: A Traveler’s Guide Geography (2002). The book presents a most impressively wide-ranging synthesis of New Age views on sacred space. The sacred or visionary geography of New Age spirituality is in many ways novel in its embrace of a global, post-Apollo and post- Sputnik

Keywords: New Age culture; New Age pilgrimage; sacred sites; sacred space; Sedona; The Galaxy on Earth
it was proved that the underground flow is changeable.

Power trips: Making sacred space through new age pilgrimage, white fluffy sediments.

Plastic shamans and astroturf sun dances: New Age commercialization of Native American spirituality, phenomenon of crowd induces the law of the excluded third.

Visions of power: imagery and symbols in late Iron Age Britain, household in a row.

Sites, sacredness, and stories: Interactions of archaeology and contemporary Pagans. Argument of perihelion, forming a kind of system of grabens on the border with the West Karelian uplift.